Alan Ward BOOKS

Alan Ward runs Axis Graphic Design in Manchester. For the last twenty years he has been designing publications for galleries, individual artists and publishing houses, working with some of the most noteworthy artists around today. The exhibition contains a variety of outstanding examples of modern book design and clearly illustrates the central role a designer plays in the integration of text image and format.

Accompanying the exhibition are a series of QR tagged videos that show the publications' content in double time on YouTube.
